

Donald Rutherford of Emory University will present a paper entitled, "Leibniz and the Problem of Soul-Body Union." Professor Robert M. Adams of the University of California, Los Angeles will comment. The session will be chaired by Professor Jill Buroker of California State University at San Bernardino. Please see the program for further details.

Nominations and Elections: — At the 1991 Business Meeting of the Leibniz Society of North America nominations and elections were held for the positions of Vice-President, Secretary-Treasurer, and Board Member (two slots). The results are as follows: Vice-President, Eileen O'Neill; Secretary-Treasurer, Glenn Hartz; Board Members, Catherine Wilson (second term) and Roger Ariew (second term). Congratulations to all these individuals, whose terms formally began on December 1, 1992. Special thanks are extended to the Leibniz scholars who served so well in the previous term and who have just stepped down. They are Vice-President Martha Brandt Bolton and Secretary-Treasurer David Blumenfeld. Their contributions and special efforts on behalf of the Leibniz Society of North America are very much appreciated.

The upcoming international Leibniz Congress: — The G.-W.-Leibniz-Gesellschaft e.V. Hannover has announced that, assuming financing can be assured, the Sixth International Leibniz Congress will be held from July 18 to July 23, 1994, in Hanover, Germany.

A word about the changes of the last few years in the Leibniz Society Newsletter, now the Leibniz Society Newsletter and Review: — It is hoped that members of the Leibniz Society of North America have noticed and welcomed the recent changes in the Society's annual mailing. Here is a bit of background on what has transpired. Professor Glenn Hartz of The Ohio State University at Mansfield kindly responded to a call for assistance in connection with the Newsletter five years ago. In the intervening period his contributions have grown steadily, beginning with the introduction of desktop publishing to the Newsletter and the assumption of all mailing responsibilities in 1988, and expanding last year to the complete oversight of the Leibniz Society Review, a project begun on his initiative. (The Editor has continued throughout with the writing of the Newsletter.) With this issue of the Leibniz Society Newsletter and Review these developments lead to the following natural change: Professor Hartz becomes Editor of the Leibniz Society Review; Professor Kulstad remains Editor of the Leibniz Society Newsletter, with the two pieces being distributed together as the Leibniz Society Newsletter and Review. Professor Hartz requests that all those interested in making contributions to the Review contact him to discuss what might be done. He is open to a variety of approaches. The Editor of the Newsletter adds his heartfelt thanks to Professor Hartz for his significant contributions over the past five years and his continuing contributions in connection with this annual Leibniz Society enterprise.
