

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS AND SUBSCRIPTION INFORMATION

With this issue, we mark the appearance 300 years ago of the “Monadologie.” A fitting tribute to the work has been provided by Patrick Riley – his eighteenth consecutive contribution to this Review. Regrettably, Patrick died in March 2015. He will be greatly missed, by his many friends and by readers of The Leibniz Review. He was always optimistic and encouraged me to continue on with the project, even in the early days. Thanks to Philip Beeley and David Williams for writing personal notes about Patrick. Manifesting his wonderful spirit of love (the “charity of the wise”), Patrick was concerned that we should recognize Irena Backus for her excellent work on Leibniz after she slipped into a coma in mid-2014. So he wrote up the tribute published here just before (as it turns out) the notice of his own death. I am grateful of course for the volunteer work of all the other contributors, referees, and members. Stephen Puryear has helped me again this year in preparing the “Recent Works” section.

Support and funding for typesetting, printing, and mailing is provided in part by The Ohio State University at Mansfield. Those who have secured institutional subscriptions to the Review, or who have paid Leibniz Society of North America dues or made cash contributions, are also thanked for generating funding. The faithful support of the Society’s Executive Committee and President has been invaluable, as has the help of Marna Utz in attending to membership, subscriptions and mailings.

For information concerning membership in the Leibniz Society of North America, or for institutional subscription information concerning The Leibniz Review, see

This takes you to Gregory Brown’s Leibniz site, where one can find up-to-date information about the Society, including the Newsletter. Please note the essay competition for 2015, and bring it to the attention of young scholars. Also please note that a concerted effort is made to update the email addresses of members. If your email or mailing address changes please contact the Society’s Secretary-Treasurer, Stephen Puryear (smpuryear@ncsu.edu), with the correction.

Contact information for the journal is as follows: Glenn A. Hartz, Editor; The Leibniz Review, Philosophy Department, Ohio State University, 1760 University Drive, Mansfield, Ohio 44906 USA. e-mail: hartz.1@osu.edu; phone (419) 755-4354; fax (419) 755-4367. Institutions may subscribe to the Review directly through the Editor (at the address above), or through an agency. For institutional subscription rates and information about an online option, see “subscription information” at leibnizreview.com.

All articles and Leibniz texts are refereed. Unsolicited articles are not considered. Reviews and discussion pieces are typically limited to 10 manuscript pages, though sometimes longer contributions are accepted. The deadline for the 2015 issue is 1 September 2015. Authors should follow formatting guidelines for a Word document – available from the editor.
