Contributors

Lilli Alalen, Uppsala University
Deborah J. Brown, University of Queensland
Manuel “Mandel” Cabrera Jr., University of California Los Angeles
John Carriero, University of California Los Angeles
Michael Della Rocca, Yale University
Joseph W. Hwang, California State University Chico
Olli Koistinen, University of Turku
Michael LeBuffe, Texas A&M University
Jeffrey K. McDonough, Harvard University
Lex Newman, University of Utah
C. G. Normore, University of California Los Angeles
Marleen Rozemond, University of Toronto
Lisa Shapiro, Simon Fraser University
Kenneth P. Winkler, Yale University
Andrew Youpa, Southern Illinois University

Peter A. French is the Lincoln Chair in Ethics, Professor of Philosophy, and the Director of the Lincoln Center for Applied Ethics at Arizona State University. His Ph.D. is from the University of Miami and he did post-doctoral work at Oxford University. He was awarded a Doctor of Humane Letters (L.H.D.) honorary degree from Gettysburg College in 2006. French is the author of twenty books including War and Moral Dissonance; The Virtues of Vengeance; Cowboy Metaphysics; Ethics and College Sports; Responsibility Matters; Corporate Ethics; and Collective and Corporate Responsibility. He has published dozens of articles in the philosophical and legal journals. Works by him have been translated into Chinese, Japanese, German, Italian, French, Serbian, and Spanish.

Howard K. Wettstein is Professor of Philosophy at the University of California, Riverside. He holds an M.A. and Ph.D. from the City University of New York and a B.A. from Yeshiva College. He has authored three books, The Significance of Religious Experience, and Other Essays (forthcoming), The Magic Prism: An Essay in the Philosophy of Language, and Has Semantics Rested On a Mistake? and Other Essays, and edited others including Themes From Kaplan (co-edited) and Diasporas and Exiles: Varieties of Jewish Identity. He is currently writing a new book on the philosophy of religion; his work in that area includes such topics as doctrine and the viability of philosophical theology; the Book of Job and the problem of evil; the Akedah (the Binding of Isaac); the character of religious experience and religious life; and the roles of awe, ritual, and intimacy. His has published articles on these topics and well as in the philosophy of language. John Carriero is Professor of Philosophy at the University of California, Los Angeles, and the author of Between Two Worlds: A Reading of Descartes’s Meditations (2009).

Early Modern Philosophy Reconsidered: Essays in Honor of Paul Hoffman is an international collection of essays from both well-established and younger scholars. In keeping with the example of Hoffman’s own work, the essays are written in the spirit of promoting serious philosophical engagement with the historical figures they discuss. Among the philosophers whose views are explored in the collection are Descartes, Spinoza, Leibniz, Berkeley, and Kant.