

Questions Editorial Board

RORY E. KRAFT, JR.
Assistant Professor of Philosophy, York College of Pennsylvania

JIM DAVIS
Faculty Member, Boston University Academy

JUAN FERRET
Director, Philosophical Systems Institute

SARA GOERING
Assistant Professor of Philosophy, University of Washington

STEVEN GOLDBERG
Faculty Member, Oak Park and River Forest High School

DAVID HEISE
Associate Professor of Philosophy, Humboldt State University

ROGER HUNT
Student, Boston Graduate School of Psychoanalysis

JANA MOHR LONE
Director, University of Washington Center for Philosophy for Children
Affiliate Faculty, Department of Philosophy,
University of Washington

MEGAN MUSTAIN
Associate Professor of Philosophy, St. Mary's University,
San Antonio

ALISON REIHELD
Assistant Professor, Southern Illinois University Edwardsville

WENDY TURGEON
Associate Professor of Philosophy, St. Joseph's College, and Adjunct, State University of New York at Stony Brook

MARINA VLADAVO
Faculty, Andrews Osborne Academy

ZACHARY GEIBLER AND DEVON GLUCK
Interns

Questions is published annually by the Philosophy Documentation Center with the generous support of its subscribers, the University of Washington Center for Philosophy for Children, the American Philosophical Association, and York College of Pennsylvania. If you would like to receive more information on how to obtain print copies, please contact the Philosophy Documentation Center, P.O. Box 7147, Charlottesville, VA 22906-7147; phone: 800-444-2419 (U.S. and Canada) or 434-220-3300; e-mail: order@pdcnet.org; web: www.pdcnet.org/questions.

To subscribe to Questions, please see the back cover.

© 2015, Questions: Philosophy for Young People

Editor's Note

This volume is the tenth volume for which I have served as an editor for Questions, first with Alison Reiheld, and then independently.

In the years since I first started working on Questions, we have changed a lot.

Personally, much has changed. I've gone from being a graduate student to a tenured professor, my beard has grown quite a bit, and I now have two children of my own.

The journal itself has changed. Beginning slowly with the sixth volume the look and feel has shifted to match expectations of a more media-savvy reader. Beginning with Volume 12 this had its most dramatic shift as we moved to a look and feel more in keeping with literary journals.

Simultaneously to the physical changes, we were figuring out what to do with the internet. Volume 6 introduced our @gmail address—at a time when Gmail was still rather exclusive. By Volume 10 we were talking about Facebook. Now we have a robust website, and use Facebook, Twitter, and Pinterest to ensure that pre-college philosophy meets folks where they are.

Questions has moved from being a project of the American Philosophical Association's Committee on Pre-College Instruction in Philosophy, to being an independent journal, to being the official journal of PLATO. Throughout, its mission has remained the same: to serve as an outlet for pre-college philosophers and those who do work with them. I'm proud of the work I have done alongside the various editorial board members over the years.

With this issue I move from being editor, to being editor emeritus. I look forward to seeing how Questions continues to grow and change as it reaches out to the future yet again.

Rory

Jared Corbett's name was misspelled in Volume 14. We regret the error and extend our apologies