

Information about Authors

Gideon Calder is Professor of Social Ethics at the University of South Wales, and works mainly on ethical aspects of social policy – most prominently, in recent work, on the family, social care and disability. He is co-editor of the journal Ethics and Social Welfare, and of a forthcoming Routledge handbook on childhood and children. A short book on the limits of social mobility called How Inequality Runs in Families is due out in late 2016. Contact: gideon.calder@southwales.ac.uk.

Horațiu Traian Crișan is Assistant Professor at the “Iuliu Hațieganu” University of Medicine and Pharmacy, Cluj-Napoca. He was a Postdoctoral Fellow in the SOP HRD/159/1.5/S/133675 Project, Romanian Academy, Iași Branch. He received his PhD in Philosophy at the Babeș-Bolyai University (2011). He has a B.A. in Philosophy at the Babeș-Bolyai University (1996-2000), and an M.A. in Philosophy at the Université Paris-Est Créteil Val de Marne (UPEC), (2000-2001). He was awarded a Herder scholarship by the Alfred Toepfer FVS Foundation at the University of Vienna (2005-2006) and a DAAD scholarship at the Bergische Universität Wuppertal (2009). His recent publications include: “Grounding the Right to Reparations for Historical Injustices.” Studia UBB Philosophia. 59, 3 (2014); “Autonomy of the Political and Human Rights in Arendt’s Theory.” In Rethinking Politics for the Knowledge Society, ed. Teodor Dima, Cornelia Margareta Găspărel, Dan Gabriel Sîmbotin. Iași: Institutul European. 2013; “Abordări teoretice ale deciziilor controversate în etica medicală.” Studia UBB Bioethica. LVIII, 2 (2013). Contact: horatiu.crisan@umfcluj.ro.

Katerina Deligiorgi is Reader in Philosophy at the University of Sussex. She is the author of The Scope of Autonomy: Kant and the Morality of Freedom (Oxford University Press, 2012), Kant and the Culture of Enlightenment (SUNY Press, 2005), and editor of Hegel: New Directions (Acumen, 2006) and of the Hegel Bulletin (2005-2015). Contact: K.Deligiorgi@sussex.ac.uk.

Steve Fuller is Auguste Comte Professor of Social Epistemology in the Department of Sociology at the University of Warwick, UK. Originally trained in history and philosophy of science, Fuller is best known for his foundational work in the field of ‘social epistemology,’ which is the name of a quarterly journal that he founded in 1987 as well as the first of his more than twenty books. He has recently completed a trilogy relating to the idea of a ‘post-’ or ‘trans-’ human future, all published with Palgrave Macmillan: Humanity 2.0: What It Means to Be Human Past, Present and Future (2011), Preparing for Life in Humanity 2.0 (2012) and (with Veronika Lipinska) The Proactionary Imperative: A Foundation for

Symposion, 3, 2 (2016): 237-238

Symposium

Transhumanism (2014). His latest book is Knowledge: The Philosophical Quest in History (Routledge 2015). His works have been translated into over twenty languages. He was awarded a D.Litt. by the University of Warwick in 2007 for sustained lifelong contributions to scholarship. He is also a Fellow of the Royal Society of Arts, the UK Academy of Social Sciences, and the European Academy of Sciences and Arts. Contact: s.w.fuller@warwick.ac.uk.

William T. Lynch is an Associate Professor in history at Wayne State University in Detroit, Michigan (USA). He has published Solomon's Child: Method in the Early Royal Society of London, (Stanford University Press 2001), "Second-Guessing Scientists and Engineers: Post Hoc Criticism and the Reform of Practice in Green Chemistry and Engineering," Science and Engineering Ethics, 21, 5 (2015): 1217-1240, and "Darwinian Social Epistemology: Science and Religion as Evolutionary Byproducts Subject to Cultural Evolution," Social Epistemology Review and Reply Collective, 5, 2 (2016): 26-68, <http://wp.me/p1Bfg0-2Ci>. Contact: william.lynch@wayne.edu.

Md. Munir Hossain Talukder is Professor of Philosophy at Jahangirnagar University, Bangladesh. Professor Talukder completed his MA in Applied Ethics from Linköping University, Sweden and Utrecht University, the Netherlands. He earned his PhD from the National University of Singapore, for his thesis in comparative environmental philosophy and ethics as a research scholar. His research focuses mainly on comparative environmental philosophy, applied ethics and Asian philosophies. He is also interested in political philosophy, bioethics and virtue ethics. He published articles in local and international peer-reviewed journals (some of them translated into foreign languages). His work "Self, Nature, and Cultural Values" was published in Italian as "Una nuova 'filosofia' ambientale" by Mondadori, Milano, Italy (2012). Contact: mdmhtalukder@gmail.com.

Marlon Jesspher B. De Vera is a graduate student of philosophy from the University of the Philippines – Diliman. He has an undergraduate degree (summa cum laude) in chemical engineering from the same university, and is currently working in product supply management for a multinational fast moving consumer goods company. In philosophy, his current areas of interest are in social and political philosophy and metaphysics. His research work in philosophy has been published in Kritike, The Mabini Review, and in Philosophy Pathways. His poetry has also been published in The Philippines Graphic. Contact: mjb.devera@yahoo.com.