

Information about Authors

Alex Blum is Professor Emeritus of Philosophy at Bar-Ilan University, Israel. He founded, with Asa Kasher, the journal Philosophia which they co-edited during its first five years of its existence. He wrote two logic texts which were published in Hebrew covering much of elementary logic and published over 70 papers and pieces in philosophical journals. Among them: Analysis, British Journal of the Philosophy of Science, Dialectica, Philosophical Studies, Nous, Notre Dame Journal of the Philosophy of Science, Skepsis, Philosophical Investigations, Organon F, The Journal of Value Inquiry, Logique et Analyse, and Iyyun. His last four papers are: "Can it be that Tully=Cicero?" Symposion. Theoretical and Applied Inquiries in Philosophy and Social Sciences. 4, 2(2017): 149-150, "An Aspect of Necessity". Metalogicon. New Series. I: 1(2016): 31-6, "Wittgenstein on the Cretan Liar". Metalogicon (forthcoming) and "Finitude" Metalogicon (forthcoming). Contact: alex.blum@biu.ac.il.

Ștefan Bolea is currently working as an Associate Lecturer within the Faculty of History and Philosophy of the Babeș-Bolyai University of Cluj-Napoca and as a cultural editor of the literary magazine Apostrof. He is also the co-founder and editor-in-chief of the cultural e-zine EgoPHobia. He has received his second doctorate summa cum laude in September 2017 (after a first one in Philosophy in 2012) with an interdisciplinary investigation on the archetype of the shadow in the literature. He has won research fellowships in Oslo, Copenhagen, Munich, Paris and Vienna. He is the recipient of 17 national prizes of literature and selections from his texts were translated into English, German, French and Portuguese. Some of his recent publications include Theoria, Crux Publishing, Bucharest, 2015, "Of Hatred and Solitude in the Works of Mary Shelley and E. M. Cioran". Philobiblon, XXII, 2, 2017: 105-116. Contact: stefan.bolea@gmail.com.

Emanuel Copilaș is Ph.D. Lecturer at the Political Science Department, West University of Timișoara. His major interest fields are political ideologies, political philosophy, political economy, political history, and political radicalism. Among his latest books are: Geneza leninismului romantic. O perspectivă teoretică asupra orientării internaționale a comunismului românesc, 1948-1989, [The Genesis of Romantic Leninism. A Theoretical Perspective over the International Orientation of Romanian Communism, 1948-1989], Iași, Institutul European, 2012; Incursiuni în istoria politică și intelectuală a secolului XX, [Incursions in the Political and Intellectual History of the XXth Century], Iași, Adenium, 2014; Națiunea socialistă. Politica identității în Epoca de Aur [The Socialist Nation. The Politics of Identity during the Golden Age], Iași, Polirom, 2015; Cetățenii și revoluția. Contradicții între partid și stat în Epoca de Aur [The Citizens and the Revolution. Contradictions between Party and State during the Golden Age], Târgoviște, Cetatea de Scaun, 2017; (O)poziții. Lecturi politice în vremuri depolitizate [(O)ppositions. Political Readings in Unpoliticized Times], Suceava, Alexandria, 2017; De la ideologie la hegemonie. Explorări critice în postcomunismul românesc [From Ideology to Hegemony. Critical Explorations in Romanian Postcommunism], București, Tritonic, 2018. Contact: copilasemanuel@yahoo.com.

Symposion

Anca Dohotariu holds a PhD in Sociology (École des Hautes Études en Sciences Sociales Marseille, 2010) and she is currently Associate Professor at the Faculty of Political Science of the University of Bucharest. Based mainly on a qualitative sociological approach, her research interests are related to the recent dynamics of the cultural meanings, practices and norms that govern the institution of family life in post-socialist Romania, placed in the broader context of other Central and Eastern European countries. Recent publications: Anca Dohotariu coordinated a book – Familia în România, între social și politic. O incursiune diacronică pluridisciplinară [Family Institution in Romania, between Social and Political Stakes. A Multidisciplinary Diachronic Approach], Ed. Universității din București, 2017, she authored a monograph – Le couple non marié. Du politique au social dans le postcommunisme roumain, Institutul European, Iași, 2013, and over 13 articles among which “The Unmarried Couple in Post-communist Romania: a Qualitative Sociological Approach”, The History of the Family, 20 (4), 2015: 579-592. Contact: anca.dohotariu@fspub.unibuc.ro.

Rizalino Noble Malabed is a PhD candidate at the Department of Philosophy, University of the Philippines - Diliman. He will defend his dissertation, The Middle Class' Lost Agency: Gitnang Uring Pantasya (Middle Class Fantasy) and Philippine Politics Post-EDSA, soon. He is also Assistant Professor of Political Science at the Department of Social Sciences, University of the Philippines at Los Baños, Laguna. His areas of interest are political philosophy, theories of global politics, and Philippine politics and history. Contact: taga.taaw@gmail.com.

Rajesh Sampath completed his PhD at the University of California, Irvine in the humanities where he studied under the French philosopher Jacques Derrida, the founder of deconstruction. His areas of specialization centered on the philosophy of history, historical time and epochal shifts. Subsequently, he did a postdoctoral fellowship at the University of California, Berkeley and a D.A.A.D. research scientist fellowship in Germany where he published articles in continental European philosophy. Contact: rsampath@brandeis.edu.