

Abbreviations

Consult the Bibliography for complete references of works cited in the notes, as well as for translations, should they exist, and for conventions of citing individual works beyond those listed below

Frequently Cited Works by Martin Heidegger

- FS* Frühe Schriften [Early Writings]. Frankfurt: Klostermann, 1972.
- GA* Gesamtausgabe [Collected Edition]. Frankfurt: Klostermann, 1975–. This abbreviation is followed by the volume number and the page numbers being cited, as in ‘GA 9, 176–81’.
- GA* 1 Frühe Schriften (1912–1916). Edited by Friedrich-Wilhelm von Herrmann. Gesamtausgabe 1. Frankfurt: Klostermann, 1978. Full bibliographic data on other Gesamtausgabe volumes cited are to be found in the introductory section C (“Heidegger’s Early Occasional Writings”) of the “Chronological Overview” and at the end of the volume in the “Bibliography of GA Editions of the Lecture Courses.”
- BT* Sein und Zeit. Tübingen: Niemeyer, 1927; 7th ed., 1953; 19th ed., 2006. Pagination of the 7th to the 19th edition will be used in citing this 1927 classic. The two extant English translations under the title of Being and Time—first published respectively in 1962 (Macquarrie and Robinson) and 1997 (Joan Stambaugh)—both give the pagination of Niemeyer’s German edition in the margins.

Frequently Cited Works by Others

- Briefwechsel* Husserl, Edmund. Briefwechsel [Correspondence]. Edited by Karl Schuhmann with Elisabeth Schuhmann. Husserliana Dokumente III. 10 vols. Dordrecht: Kluwer, 1994. Husserl’s Briefwechsel is cited by volume and page number.
- Kiesel, Theodore. The Genesis of Heidegger’s “Being and Time.” Berkeley: University of California Press, 1993.
- Sheehan, Thomas. “Heidegger’s Lehrjahre [Student Years].” In John Sallis, Giuseppina C. Moneta, and Jacques Taminiaux (eds.), The Collegium Phaenomenologicum: The First Ten Years, 77–136. Dordrecht: Kluwer, 1988.

- Ott, Hugo. Martin Heidegger. Unterwegs zu seiner Biographie. Frankfurt: Campus, 1988. English translation: Martin Heidegger: A Political Life. Translated by Allan Blunden. London: Basic Books, 1993. References are to the German and English pagination, respectively.

German University Semesters

- KNS Kriegsnotsemester (war emergency semester), the “interim semester” from February to mid-April 1919, when Heidegger at war’s end became Husserl’s assistant and taught his breakthrough course on phenomenological philosophy.
- SS Summer semester, which in Heidegger’s time took place typically from May through July.
- WS Winter semester, which typically ran from November through February, with a month off at the Christmas season.