

THE AMERICAN JOURNAL OF SEMIOTICS

Volume 12, Numbers 1-4, Summer 1995 [1998]
Issue Theme: History and Semiotics

Jeffrey Brendle, technical editor

Table of Contents

Guest Editor's Introduction to the Special Issue

WILLIAM PENCAK
History and Semiotics
7 – 10

Articles

I. Race and "Others"

WILLIAM PENCAK
Re-Othering
11 – 18

BETH RAPS
Historical Fragments:
Racist Discourse, Loving Discourse
19 – 39

ANGELA MICHELE LEONARD
The Topography of Violence in
John Greenleaf Whittier's "Antislavery Poems"
41 – 58

DIANA ROYER
A Tradition Should Be More Than Its Signs and Symbols: Native American Spiritual Items
and the Non-Native
59 – 74

II. Religion

ANNE WINSTON-ALLEN
Goswijn van der Weyten, Geertgen tot Sint Jans, and Albrecht Dürer: Reading the Signs in Pictures and Texts of the Rosary Brotherhood
75 – 98

ERIKA SCHNEIDER
Blood-Stained Linen and Shattered Skull:
Ford's Theater as Reliquary to Abraham Lincoln
99 – 127

MARY C. MILES
The Man Upstairs:
Changing Visions of God During the Cold War
129 – 146

ELENA L. ZHELTOVA
The Electrification of Soviet Russia:
The Myth and Mystification of the Bolshevik
Electrification Program, 1910-1928
(translated and edited by CHRISTINE A. WHITE)
147 – 184

III. The Arts

SANTA CASCIANI

Ruzante:

A Dissenting Voice in the Italian Renaissance
185 – 209

JASON M. KELLY

Turner's Golden Vision:

Alchemy in the Works of J.M.W. Turner
211 – 228

SABRA STATHAM

A Personal Rite: Christianity and Hellenism in Igor Stravinsky's Oedipus Rex
229 – 242

WILLIAM PENCAK

"All Art is Against Lived Experience":
Derek Jarman's Caravaggio
243 – 260IV. Gender and the Body

HARTMUT HEEP

The American Body as a Semiotic Sign
261 – 272

META MAZAJ

Discourse of Menstruation
as a Way to Control the Female Body
273 – 287

GARY CROSS

Gendered Futures/Gendered Fantasies:
Toys as Representatives of Changing Childhood
289 – 310

V. Political Culture

MICHAEL MERANZE

Michel Foucault, the Enlightenment,
and the Context of Criticism
311 – 322

RIC NORTHRUP CARIC

Blustering Brags, Dueling Inventors, and Corn-Square Geniuses: Artisan Leisure in
Philadelphia, 1785-1825
323 – 341

DAVID K. B. ZEEMAN

Ethereal Semiotics II: Regulating Nothing
343 – 362

CATHERINE A. LUGG

Kitsch and the American Political Spectacle:
Denying the Dream
363 – 380

KUMKUM CHATTERJEE

Nature, History, and Nationalism:
The Travel Narratives of a South Asian Colonial Elite
381 – 402

PADHRAIG HIGGINS

“A Melancholy Instance of Complicated Misery”:
Ireland and Irish National Identity in Eighteenth Century English Travel Writing
403 – 424

VI. Historical Narrative

JEFFREY BRENDLE

Forward to the Past: History and the Reversed
Chronology Narrative in Martin Amis’s Time’s Arrow
425 – 445