
Contents

An Interview with Martha Nussbaum, 173

Death and Loss, 186

Geoffrey Scarre

Was Epicurus right to dismiss the fear of death as irrational?

Improvement and Truth in Quasi-Realism, 189

Iain Law

If morality is just a matter of attitudes, can any sense be given to the notion of moral progress

Virtual Fidelity, 193

Nigel Warburton

On the rights and wrongs of virtual sex

Quine on Translation and Meaning, 199

James Baillie

An account of Quine's argument for the indeterminacy of meaning

Communitarianism and its Problems, 204

Michael Parker

Does the communitarian critique of liberalism have dangers of its own?

A Radical Environmentalist Political Theory, Part Three of 'Foundations for Developing a Green Political Theory', 209

Alan Carter

To change anything, we need to change everything

Backstage Imperishables and Parochialism in Aesthetics, 220

Paul Davis

Summary

In Defence of Hobbes against Lippitt, 225

Paul Davis

In defence of the superficial and the ephemeral

Synthesis and Social Reality: Philosophy and Sociology in Hegel's Critique of Kant, 229

John Hund

On Hegel as a possible precursor of the late Wittgenstein

Bald Lies: A Puzzle about Deception, 235

Mark Nelson

Can one lie in deeds as well as in words?

Analysis Exercise 11: Socrates' Refutation of Protagoras' Relativism, 237

Puzzles and Posers, 239

Editor's Booknotes, 241

Philosophy News, 244

Crossword, 245

Volume Contents and Author Index to Volume 10, 1996