

CONTENTS

Editorial	v-viii
1. Modernity, Islam and an African Culture Olatunji A. Oyeshile DOI: http://dx.doi.org/10.4314/ft.v4i2.1	2-18
2. Appiah on Race and Identity in The Illusions of Race: A Rejoinder David A. Oyedola DOI: http://dx.doi.org/10.4314/ft.v4i2.2	20-45
3. A Philosophical Critique of Ignocentric Search for Political Messiah in Nigeria Cyril-Mary Pius Olatunji DOI: http://dx.doi.org/10.4314/ft.v4i2.3	46-67
4. From Magic to African Experimental Science: Toward a New Paradigm Christian C. Emedolu DOI: http://dx.doi.org/10.4314/ft.v4i2.5	68-88
Conversation:	89
5. Postmodernism and Objectivity in the Social Sciences: A re-dress of Nweke's understanding of Atabor. Augustine Atabor DOI: http://dx.doi.org/10.4314/ft.v4i2.6	90-93
6. David Oyedola and the Imperative to Disambiguate the term “African Philosopher”: A Conversation from the standpoint of The Conversational School of Philosophy (CSP) Victor C. A. Nweke DOI: http://dx.doi.org/10.4314/ft.v4i2.7	94-99
Book Review:
7. The Limitations of Bernard Matolino’s “Limited Communitarianism”: Continuing the Conversations on Personhood in African Philosophy Mesembe I. Edet DOI: http://dx.doi.org/10.4314/ft.v4i2.8	100-111