Editorial

Message from the Editor

Gereon Kopf

Special Topic: The Rang stong/Gzhan stong Division

Introduction: The History of the Rang stong/Gzhan stong Distinction from Its Beginning through the Ris-med Movement

Klaus-Dieter Mathes

Can We Speak of Kadam Gzhan Stong?: Tracing the Sources for Other-Emptiness in Early-Fourteenth-Century Tibet

Tsering Wangchuk

On the rDzogs chen Distinction between Mind (sems) and Primordial Knowing (ye shes): Clarifications and Transcendental Arguments

David Higgins

How Can a Momentary and Conditioned Mind Be Integral to Gzhan Stong?

Anne Burchardi

From the Three Natures to the Two Natures: On a Fluid Approach to the Two Versions of Other-Emptiness from Fifteenth-Century Tibet

Yaroslav Komarovski

Presenting a Controversial Doctrine in a Conciliatory Way: Mkhon chen Gang shar dbang po’s (1925–1958/59?) Inclusion of Gzhan Stong (“Emptiness of Other”) within Prāsaṅgika

Klaus-Dieter Mathes
Research Articles

Tsong kha pa and the Myth of the Given
Edward Falls 132

Reading Nishida through Shinran: Absolute Nothingness,
Other Power, and Religious Consciousness
Elizabeth McManaman Grosz 172

Re-Visioning Dōgen Kigen’s Attitude toward the System (Kenmitsu Taiset 顆密体制) in Considering the Concept of Aspiration (Kokorozashi 志) and Just-Sitting Mediation
(Shikan tasa 只管打坐)
Eiji Suhara 187

Is “Illusion” a Prajñāpāramitā Creation? The Birth and Death of a Buddhist Cognitive Metaphor
Shi Huifeng 214

Cittamātra as Conventional Truth from Šāntarakṣita to Mipham
Jay L. Garfield 263

Book Reviews

Review of Yaroslav Komarovski, Visions of Unity: The Golden Pandita Shakya Chokden’s New Interpretation of Yogācāra and Madhyamaka
Douglas S. Duckworth 281

Review of The Cowherds, Moonshadows: Conventional Truth in Buddhist Philosophy
Christian Coseru 285

Review of Sara L. McClintock, Omniscience and the Rhetoric of Reason: Šāntarakṣita and Kamalaśīla on Rationality, Argumentation, and Religious Authority
Shinya Moriyama 291

Translated and Annotated by Thomas Yūhō Kirchner
Steven Heine 297

Review of Robert E. Carter, The Kyoto School: An Introduction
(with a Foreword by Thomas P. Kasulis)
Bret W. Davis 301