

The National Catholic Bioethics Quarterly

Volume 17 + Number 1 + Spring 2017

GENOME EDITING WITH CRISPR

Rev. Nicanor Pier Giorgio Austriaco, OP, Guest Editor

In This Issue	9
Washington Insider	15
Greg Schleppenbach
Essays
The Mechanism and Applications of CRISPR-Cas9	29
Paul Scherz
Rewriting the Code of Life	37
CRISPR Technology and Its Impact on the Future of Humanity
Jennifer A. Doudna
Healthier than Healthy	43
The Moral Case for Therapeutic Enhancement
Rev. Nicanor Pier Giorgio Austriaco, OP
Resisting the Temptation of Perfection	51
Rev. Joseph Tham, LC, MD
Articles
The Genetic Engineering of Animals and Plants and the Boundaries of Stewardship	65
David A. Prentice
Editing Out the Embryo	83
The Debates over Human Genome Editing in the United Kingdom and the United States
David Albert Jones
Human Genome Editing	107
A Catholic Perspective
Rev. Kevin FitzGerald, SJ

Verbatim

Human Genome Editing	125
Principles of Governance and Summary of Recommendations National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine

Notes & Abstracts

Science + David A. Prentice	131
Medicine + John S. Sullivan, MD	143
Philosophy and Theology + Christopher Kaczor	157

Book Reviews

Humanity's End: Why We Should Reject Radical Enhancement by Nicholas Agar Reviewed by Rev. Jonah Pollock, OP	169
Beyond Humanity? The Ethics of Biomedical Enhancement by Allen Buchanan Reviewed by Rev. Ezra Sullivan, OP	172
Unfit for the Future: The Need for Moral Enhancement by Ingmar Persson and Julian Savulescu Reviewed by Rev. Basil Cole, OP	176
The Case for Perfection: Ethics in the Age of Human Enhancement by Johann A. R. Roduit Reviewed by Jason T. Eberl	178