

PHILOSOPHY & THEOLOGY
VOLUME 30 NUMBER 1 (2018)

Emmanuel Falque 3–32

The Relevance of Medieval Philosophy: God, the Flesh, and the Other

Erin Stackle 33–58

*What Does St. Thomas Say Is the Matter in Aristotle's 'Health'?
A Case Study of the Commentary Tradition*

Brandon L. Morgan 59–78

Love as the Logic of Reconciliation in Hegel

Jane Duran 79–90

Frances Harper: A Christian Voice for the Nineteenth Century

C. Andrew DuPée 91–122

*Out of Context:
Newman and Marion on Religion, Revelation, and Hermeneutics*

Shlomo Dov Rosen 123–148

Rawls's Structural Response to Arbitrariness: An Echo of Calvin

Michiel Meijer 149–178

Strong Evaluation Down the Decades: Rearticulating Taylor's Central Concept

Daniel A. Rober 179–206

Grace and the Secular: Reading Charles Taylor through Henri de Lubac

Héctor Sevilla Godínez 207–233

*The Human and the Nothingness:
The Anthropological Conception Derived from Assuming Nothingness*

Tony Svetelj 235–254

*"Weak Thought" in the Face of Religious Violence:
Perplexing Dimensions of Modernity and Globalization*

Michael Xiarhos 255–267

Ethics and Morality in Cloning Technology: Christianity, Islam, and Pop Culture

James B. South 269–271

Editor's Page