

PHILOSOPHY & THEOLOGY
VOLUME 29 NUMBER 2 (2017)

David Efird and David Worsley 205–219

*What an Apophaticist Can Know:
Divine Ineffability and the Beatific Vision*

Liran Shia Gordon 221–277

*Rethinking Intuitive Cognition:
Duns Scotus and the Possibility of the Autonomy of Human Thought*

Jonathan Head 277–295

Anne Conway on Time, the Trinity, and Eschatology

Bernd Irlenborn 297–312

Relativism and Christian Truth Claims

Simon Maria Kopf 313–339

Karl Rahner on Science and Theology

Bradford McCall 341–351

Causation, Vitalism, and Hume

Daniel E. Shannon 353–380

Hegel on Christianity in the Phenomenology of Spirit

Michael Vater 381–395

*Ultimate Concern and Finitude:
Schelling's Philosophy of Religion and
Paul Tillich's Systematic Theology*

Bernard J. Verkamp 397–418

Thinking about the Laws of Nature

Eric Yang 419–428

Wisdom, Risk-Taking, and Understanding

James B. South 429–431

Editor's Page

RAHNER PAPERS

Matthew Petrussek 433–460

Making the Fundamental Option Fully Free: How Human Capabilities Help Clarify Rahner's Conception of Justice

Jerry Farmer 461–483

Dignitatis Humanae and the Pneumatology of K. Rahner

REVIEW SYMPOSIUM:

FOUR PERSPECTIVES ON

KARL RAHNER'S THEOLOGICAL AESTHETICS,

BY PETER JOSEPH FRITZ,

FOLLOWED BY A RESPONSE FROM THE AUTHOR

Judith Wolfe 485–487

Gesa Thiessen 487–490

Robert Masson 490–493

Mark F. Fischer 493–498

Peter Joseph Fritz 499–506

Richard Penaskovic 507–511

Rahner Papers Editor's Page