Contents

1. On a Presumed Gap in the Derivation of the Categorical Imperative
   Henry E. Allison

2. The Metaphysical Structure of Kant’s Moral Philosophy
   Ermanno Bencivenga

3. The Anti-Skeptical Epistemology of the Refutation Of Idealism
   Anthony Brueckner

4. Spinoza’s Views on Necessity in Historical Perspective
   John Carriero

5. The State of Nature and Its Law in Hobbes and Spinoza
   Edwin Curley

6. Mendelssohn and Kant: One Source of the Critical Philosophy
   Paul Guyer

7. Three Dualist Theories of the Passions
   Paul Hoffman
8. Changing the Name of the Game:
   Kant’s Cognitivism Versus Hume’s Psychologism
   Patricia Kitcher
   201

9. Stability, Justification, and Hume’s Propensity to Ascribe Identity to Related Objects
   Louis E. Loeb
   237

10. Hume’s Scepticism: Natural Instincts and Philosophical Reflection
    Barry Stroud
    271

11. Descartes on the Origin of Sensation
    Margaret D. Wilson
    293

12. Unsociable Sociability:
    The Anthropological Basis of Kantian Ethics
    Allen W. Wood
    325